The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) maintains a series of directories to improve access to environmental information services provided by EPA and other public sector organizatons. The directories support the Agency's mission. Each directories provides contact information and a description of serviees provided. The directories are updated annually. Current directories in the series are:

- °State Environmental Libraries
- °Major EPA Dockets
- °Libraries and Information Services
- °Clearinghouses and Hotlines
- °Public Information Contacts

This is the second publication in the new Access EPA series. This document lists 8 dockets within the EPA; a description of PIRU; and provides full descriptions for each entry. The appendices include :Quick Reference to Rulemaking Dockets; Duplicatons Fees; and Major EPA Dockets Collection and Services Form.

Access EPA Series

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) maintains a series of directories to improve access to environmental information services provided by EPA and other public sector organizations. The directories are maintained by EPA's Office of Information Resources Management to support the Agency's mission. Because EPA believes that public access to environmental information fosters environmental awareness, the directories are made available through the National Technical Information Service. Each directory provides contact information and a description of services provided. The directories are updated annually. Current directories in the series are:

- State Environmental Libraries
- Major EPA Dockets
- Libraries and Information Services
- Clearinghouses and Hotlines

Major EPA Dockets

INTRODUCTION

The "Rulemaking Docket" is a collection of documents that is the basis for EPA rulemaking actions. Some statutes refer to a "rulemaking record" or a "docket," and others refer to the "record." Those same terms are often used to describe the collection of documents available to the public which reflect the Agency's consideration and promulgation of a rule, or "public docket."

This document is designed as a guide to the Major EPA Dockets. It provides assistance to EPA staff, other government agencies and the public who require information about EPA rulemakings. It is updated annually.

This document contains information on the collections and services provided by the Major EPA Dockets. It also includes the following three appendices:

- Quick Reference to Rulemaking Dockets
- Duplication Fees
- Major EPA Dockets Collection and Services Form

If you know of other Agency Dockets not included in this edition, please note the "Major EPA Dockets Collection and Services" form which is in the back of the document . To include a Docket in the next edition, complete the form and return to the address listed below:

PIRU provides public access to regulatory information supporting the Agency's actions administered under the Clean Air Act and the Clean Water Act. PIRU also has information under Statutes listed below:

RULING, STATUTE AUTHORITY CITATION: EPA Regulations are authorized by specific legislation of Congress: Clean Air Act Sec. 110, 111(d), 202, 206, 208, 324; Clean Water Act, Sec. 301, 402; Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), Sec. 3011; Safe Drinking Water Act, Sec. 1411, 1412, 1446; Noise Control Act, Sec. 6; The Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act, Sec. 102, 104(d).

CONTENT: The PIRU informational material is comprised of background documents (scientific and technical); comments to regulatory actions; transcripts of public hearings; correspondence/memoranda.

SERVICE PROVIDED: Responds to all public and government inquiries. Most services provided are for walk-in visitors. A reasonable fee is charged for materials copied.

SECURITY: No clearance is necessary.

MAINTENANCE TERM OF DOCKET BEFORE RETIRING TO FEDERAL RECORDS CENTER (FRC): Some records are retained for one year after final ruling, then returned to the program for FRC disposition. Other records such as Mobile Sources documents are retained indefinitely because earlier model cars are still in existence. Resource Conservation and Recovery Act documents are retained during the extent of a comment period.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT (FOIA) REQUEST: FOIA requests are forwarded to the EPA Freedom of Information Office for processing.
